INTRODUCING CAROL SKINNER, PH.D.

Susan Weltner-Brunton, Ph.D. & Associates is pleased to announce the addition of Dr. Carol Skinner, an Ohio licensed psychologist and an independent contractor. Dr. Skinner received her Master's degree from University of Missouri and Doctor of Philosophy from University of Northern Colorado. Dr. Skinner has expertise in assessment of autism, ADHD, and learning disabilities. She is a Certified ADHD Professional (ADHD-CCSP) through Evergreen Certifications. She enjoys working with clients with executive functioning issues such as difficulty with planning, organization, attention, memory, and task initiation. She also provides adult psychological evaluations for learning difficulties and ADHD.

ADHD GROWS UP

Attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) is a neurodevelopmental disorder that affects the brain's self-management system. Once thought to be a disorder of childhood, ADHD actually continues throughout life. In some individuals, hyperactive/impulsive symptoms improve with maturity while attention problems persist or worsen. Some people with ADHD function well during childhood but begin to show problematic symptoms as life places greater demands on self-regulation of emotions, sustained focus, task initiation, organization, and time-management. With testing and a careful history, ADHD can be diagnosed in adulthood. Counseling for adults with ADHD can help strengthen organizational, planning and self-regulation skills.

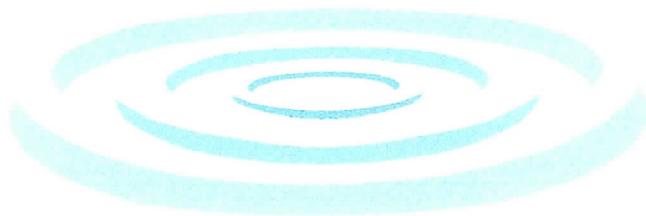

CAROL SKINNER, PH.D. is now available for referrals for testing and counseling.

KERRY MONAHAN, PSY. D. is available for referrals for neuropsychological and ADHD evaluations for those under age 18.

SWB & ASSOCIATES is also accepting referrals for child/adolescent anxiety, mood, and adjustment disorders and parent guidance
